The education in Pursat children's home

Cambodian law and Child Protection

The government has made some progress in responding to protesting the rights of children as outlined in the CRC and the Cambodian police force has become better train to take action when cases are reported. The legal term for sexual abuse of children is debauchery. In recent years numerous offenders have been arrested and prosecuted for this crime in Cambodia, including those who facilitate and organize the access to children.

Dear Friends

We are proud with Pursat children's home that some of children had just received the outstanding achievement award from the government school. All of our children study hard, they always wake up in the morning learning their home work. They trust in God who give them the wisdom and the good health until becoming the smart students for the school. They all have the different visions. Some of them want to be the teachers and some want to be the doctors and professors because they want to help the next generation in Cambodia.

Chouern Makara is from the hurt family, but now he becomes the smart student and just received the outstanding achievement award from the public school. He always tell us that his vision to be the teacher in the high

Noun Ty is an orphan at Pursat02 children's home. She had arrived here in January 07, 2009 with her sister. By determination and trying with studying, In this month, she has received the outstanding achievement award from the Public school. She used to tell that, " she wants to be a teacher in her village because there are many children waiting for their teacher teaching", and she expressed that, she thanks God very much for giving her the wisdom, and give her today.

The children are the future of a nation

The outstanding achievement award

The agriculture of Pursat Children's home

The Pursat river is opposite of New Hope Children's home, and Children bring the water from the river for their vegetable. This is the morning glory. It is the popular vegetable for Cambodian people.

The Cambodian children like the agriculture and cows because they help for their agriculture.
